

TEACHERS PLEASED WITH CONVENTION

MEETING IN DIXON CONSIDERED BEST IN HISTORY OF THE ASSOCIATION.

STATE SUPT. BLAIR HERE TODAY

Men High in Profession of Teaching Give Their Best Thoughts to Delegates.

"Resolved, That we tender the citizens of Dixon our sincere appreciation for the many courtesies received through the thoughtful kindness of their mayor, their superintendents of schools and their splendid citizens' association—courtesies that have contributed so much toward making this annual meeting of 1911 one of the most enjoyable and profitable in the history of the association."

This opening paragraph of the resolutions passed at the closing session of the Northern Illinois Teachers' association in this city this noon voices the sentiment expressed individually by the many teachers who have spent the past two days in Dixon. They enjoyed their stay in Dixon and they enjoyed the fine program, for which thanks are extended to the executive committee in the resolutions.

It was the sentiment of the convention, expressed in resolutions, that the two mill tax for educational purposes be restored by the state that the needs of common schools may be adequately met.

The action of the General Assembly was also commended in enabling the pupils of smaller schools to be transported to neighboring schools, therefore making the school unit large enough to be handled more economically and efficiently.

The convention favored the enforcement of the school attendance law in smaller communities, and favored such legislation as shall give to every graduate of the elementary schools the opportunity for a free high school training, the expense of which shall be borne by the district in which he resides.

The work being done in a number of cities in this district that aims to conserve the health of the pupils thereby promoting the efficiency of their school work, was commended.

A vote of sympathy and appreciation was extended to Luther A. Hatch, recently superintendent of seriously ill in the tent colony at O-tawa.

The schools of DeKalb, who is now the death of Alfred Bayliss, former state superintendent of public instruction, since the last meeting of the convention called forth expressions of sorrow as well as words of appreciation of the great work he accomplished for the educational system of the state during his tenure of office.

Officers Elected.

At the business session of the convention this forenoon the following officers for the coming year were elected:

President—H. B. Hayden, Rock Island.
Vice President—W. R. Snyder, Dixon.

Secretary—S. F. Parson, DeKalb.
Treasurer—John Hay, Mt. Carroll.
The new member of the executive committee is B. F. Hendricks of Morrison, county superintendent of Whiteside county.

Probably Meet in Freeport.

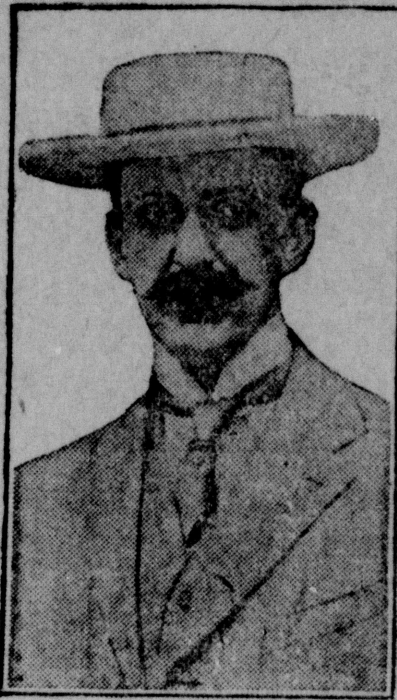

Freeport extended an invitation for the convention to meet in that city next year and the probability is that the convention will go there, but this will be determined at a joint meeting of the executive committees of the eastern and western sections of the association.

The paid enrollment for the present convention was 857, although there were probably several hundred teachers here for the day Friday who did not register.

A feature of this morning's session was a vocal solo by Mrs. Muriel Price Phelps, which was very pleasant.

ing, and the audience demanded an encore.

Modern School System.

The result of twenty years' study upon the part of Supt. Wm. A. Wirt of the Gary, Ind., schools are exemplified by him in the schools of his city. In this city of but four years' growth is to be found a striking example of the modern school system, and Supt. Wirt described in detail the arrangement of the teaching force, the rooms and their equipment.

Great stress was laid upon the play ground as an adjunct to the regular school work. Specialized instructors had charge of the play ground and the children were divided into groups so that each group had 45 minutes twice a day upon the play ground, the groups being rotated so that the grounds were in use the entire day.

By encouraging organized action in their play the children learn to associate the idea of organization in their studies. The playground should be an adjunct to the school. There are countless opportunities for the children to work out their ideas on the play ground. They learn their arithmetic quicker on the play ground than in the school. Under skillful direction the play ground gets the children into condition to be taught.

In that eight room school of Gary the teachers who teach reading, writing and numbers do not try to teach the special studies, but put their best endeavor upon the work assigned to them. The drawing, manual training, nature study and music teachers are not supervisors to direct the other teachers how to teach these studies, but they teach the pupils themselves in sections in rooms fitted up especially for this work. There is more economy in this method and better results are obtained.

The question is to substitute a better play ground than the children find in the streets and alleys, and they will stay off the streets. Organized effort on the play ground results in transferring the play impulse into work impulse and the child gets into the habit of doing things because he wants to do them.

State Supt. Blair Speaks.

Hon. F. G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, addressed the convention this morning for half an hour upon Education. He took Huxley's definition of education as a basis for his address. Huxley said: "The purpose of education is to cause to arise in the mind and heart a world of ideas which are true to the world outside."

The difference between an educated man and an ignorant man as he looks upon things which are clear to the educated man are within himself—the outside is the same. To educate a child is to help him to intelligently organize his world of ideas, and in this the teacher becomes the co-worker with God in a way. For every child his creation comes from within. There may have been a Declaration of Independence some time long ago, but for me there was no Declaration of Independence until it was born within me. If we cannot create within these boys and girls the ability to choose standards of measurement which are correct we fall short of our mission. Ideas are instruments of interpretation. In building up ideas in the child we are making the child. A boy remembers only with the ideas he has. The boy will judge himself every time he judges anything else—he can only judge by his own standard. If they classify things wrongly their standard is incorrect.

Manners and Morals.

The closing address of the convention was made by Dr. W. N. Ferris of Big Rapids, Mich., who concurred in the Rock River academy in Dixon in the '70's. He said the teacher should begin instruction along this line by cleaning up the school yards and grounds. Business men, he said, have found that it pays to keep green grass and flowers about their factories. No one can look upon unclean things daily without being harmed. Mothers should know the young men who accompany their daughters home from church, the theatre and other places. The speaker gave the teachers much good advice in methods of developing character in the children.

PEOPLE OF GARY FEEL UNEASINESS

Fear Result of Suit to Dissolve Steel Corporation.

MAY RETARD RAPID GROWTH

Trust Case, It Is Prophesied by Those Who Know, May Not Be Ready for Argument in Year—Greater Delay Possible.

Gary, Ind., Oct. 28.—The filing of a suit in New Jersey to dissolve the United States Steel corporation, which has millions invested in this city and upon whose prosperity every merchant, mechanic, professional man and laborer as well as employees in the steel mills themselves, is dependent, has created a great deal of uneasiness and all classes of citizens are wondering if the suit will in any way interfere with the work now in progress here and the further development of the new steel city.

Announcement was made a day or two ago to the effect that the corporation was on the eve of purchasing or had purchased another large tract of land adjoining the corporation limits and intended to lay it out as a residential district, confining it to the better class of homes and fixing conditions that would tend to beautifying and naturally enlarging and giving more character to Gary.

There is fear that the government suit may interfere with these plans and that, if the corporation is forced to dissolve, it will mean retrogression instead of the wonderful development that has been expected and of which the past few years are believed to be but the forerunner.

STEEL SUIT MAY DRAG

Attorneys Think It Will Not Set to Arguments in Year.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 28.—Notwithstanding the announced determination of the government to press its suit for the dissolution of the United States Steel corporation to its speedy termination as possible, it is believed by both the court and the prosecuting attorney that the case cannot be ready for argument within a year.

One prediction made in the court room by an official familiar with similar, though smaller, litigations, was that the evidence could not be got together in less than two or three years.

The subpoenas directed against the fifty-nine defendants are returnable here on Dec. 4 when formal appearance must be entered for the defense. This will give the defendants until Jan. 1 to answer, plead or demur to the government's petition. It is taken for granted that the defendants will either demur or file answers. The government will then have until Feb. 5 to file a replication which may be either formal or otherwise, according as the answers meet the issue raised by the petition.

WICKERSHAM TALKS OF SUIT

Hopes Steel Trust Will Reorganize Without Going to Trial.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Attorney General Wickersham discussed freely the suit filed against the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiaries.

He expressed the hope that the steel trust and the other respondents would put their houses in order by reorganizing, and that a decree might be entered without having the case go to trial, as has been done in the case of the electrical trust and other "malefactors," but in expressing the hope that this would be done, the attorney general admitted that he had some doubts about the willingness of the steel trust and its officers to acquiesce to the government's program.

ERECTION OF TANK DELAYED

It is announced that because of the lateness of the season the new water tank at the Northwestern depot will not be erected until next year. The foundation and penstock have been erected, the mains have been put in and it is expected the tank will be completed early in the spring.

C. P. Herrick of Polo and Thos. Moran of Chicago spent yesterday in the surrounding towns investigating the harvest conditions and transacting business with grain dealers.

IOWA MAN KILLED IN COWETA RIOTS

Villisca, Ia., Oct. 28.—J. B. Beavers, city attorney of Coweta, Okla., was killed in a race riot and his murder was followed by the lynching of Ed Suddeth. He was an Iowa man.

DOMER WINS WRESTLING MATCH

POLO LAD TAKES TWO STRAIGHT FROM "DAD" HOUSE, THE IOWA ATHLETE.

IS HARD FOUGHT BATTLE

Domer Has Developed Wonderfully Since Last Season—Local Fans Like His Work.

Floyd (Doc) Domer won the wrestling match in the opera house last evening in two straight falls, after 60 minutes of gruelling, herculean efforts.

The first fall took 40 minutes and was a very evenly contested affair. Domer was on the aggressive the majority of the time but House was by no means outclassed and made the Ogle county athlete fight hard for a decision.

Several times during the first fall Domer was perilously near having both shoulders pinned to the carpet, but he always seemed to free himself and was able to leave his adversary off and get himself out of danger, when he chose.

Both men were heavy, Domer being a little the faster of the two and more resourceful and seeming also to have the advantage in science. It is said, however, that House is the strongest.

Second Fall, 20 Minutes.

The second fall took but 20 minutes, but it was faster than the first and there were more crucial moments in it. A half dozen times Domer had his man in a favorite hold, one arm in a scissor, the man's body face up over his own goes up over his own and the other arm twisted back with one hand, using the other hand to push his man's head in the air to prevent him from "bridging" while he turns the scissors and the arm hold until the tops of both shoulders touch the canvass, but as many times "Dad" worked his arm out of the scissors which Domer had on him with his legs, and freed himself just in time to prevent a fall.

The first fall was accomplished with a neck hold and the second with a head and arm hold.

Both wrestlers are clean and scientific and the fans who witnessed the match say that it was a good starter for what we hope will be a winter of good wrestling matches.

Julien vs. Eichenberg.

Julien and Eichenberg, two Y. M. C. A. mat amateurs, entertained the crowd before the big match with about 15 minutes of good wrestling. Eichenberg got one fall in this time. The lads are comers in the game.

Smith vs. Orgiesen.

Paul Smith and George (Shy) Orgiesen were the first wrestlers to appear and they went to it for one fall which went to Smith. These boys are also in the amateur class and put up a good show. Smith has been in the game longer than Orgiesen and consequently has more science. The loser was rather "Shy" of wind also.

MORE EVIDENCE IN WEBSTER CASE

OGLE COUNTY OFFICIALS SPEND SEVERAL HOURS NEAR GRAND DETOUR.

Grand Detour, Oct. 28.—Special—Sheriff Delaney and Deputy Mackey of Ogle county spent several hours in this vicinity yesterday looking for evidence in the case against Dr. Harry E. Webster, who is now in jail at Oregon charged with the murder of his wife, Bessie Kent Webster, and it is said that some very important details were cleared up by their investigation. Neither officer would make any statement other than that the case against the uxoricide is getting stronger as the time for trial approaches.

JOHN DERN

President American Mining Congress in Session in Chicago.

PRESIDENT TAKES UP HIS RESIDENCE AT BLACKSTONE HOTEL.

BUSY TIME IS PROGRAMMED

Cabinet Members, Senators and Other Public Men Lend Appearance to Capital.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—Twenty-one guns fired from the U. S. S. Wolverine from her berth in the Chicago harbor, announced to the world that Chicago is the nation's capital and with the raising of the stars and stripes and the pennant of the president of the United States on the flagstaff of the Blackstone hotel last evening that hostelry became the "White House" until next Monday evening.

Two of the members of President Taft's cabinet—Secretaries Fisher and Meyer—were already in the city. The president himself arrived at 7:55 p. m. United States senators who are here for the Lorimer investigation or other purposes number a dozen and federal judges and jurists from fifteen states complete a notable roster of national figures who are in the city for the various events which have been arranged by the Chicago Association of Commerce and other organizations which are to entertain the president.

Half an hour after his arrival in the city the president attended a mass meeting at the First regiment armory, and at 10 o'clock he led the grand march of the Irish Choral Society's ball at the LaSalle hotel.

This forenoon he spoke at the American mining congress in Orchestra hall. In the afternoon he was taken by special train to Lake Bluff, where he inspected the new naval training station.

Seated indiscriminately about the tables 1,600 employers and employees of Milwaukee lunched with President Taft at the Auditorium in that city yesterday and heard him speak on the relations of capital and labor.

The president declared in favor of trades unions; lauded them for their work in securing progressive liability legislation and their success in bettering conditions; and then attacked their use of the secondary boycott and declared for a strict enforcement of the law against the unions in such cases.

The luncheon was the principal feature of President Taft's day in Milwaukee.

Home From the East.

Mrs. Mary Morgan, whose name is mentioned in the following article, clipped from the Utica Daily Press, has returned from a visit in the east. The eastern paper has this to say of the gathering in the home of the relative:

Oriskany Falls, N. Y., Sept. 12 — Mrs. A. Whipple of Madison street has been entertaining an interesting family group, consisting of her five sisters and two brothers, four of whom are over 70 years of age, the oldest being 78 and the youngest being 57 years. Those eight people are of a family of 12. A fact of special interest is that one sister, Mrs. Harriet Williams, claims the distinction of being one of the oldest telegraph operators in the world. She remembers the first election returns she ever took over the wire, being those relating to the election of Jas. Buchanan in 1857. Mrs. Williams also remembers distinctly the first message received by cable, which passed through her key at Hamilton, N. Y. It was from Queen Victoria and was addressed to the President. Those present at Mrs. Whipple's were Mrs. Mary Morgan, Mrs. Harriet Williams, Mrs. Sarah Shaw, Mrs. Ray Morgan, Ambrose Rice, Horace Rice and Miss L. Rice, also Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Rice.

Card Party.

Miss Carolyn Taylor will entertain a number of friends with cards

Hallowe'en Party.

Miss Hazel Weisz entertained 28 schoolmates for her friend, Miss Dorothy Beede, yesterday afternoon at her home. Hallowe'en games were played and greatly enjoyed and a delicious luncheon was served, the table being beautifully decorated in flowers and illuminated with candles.

Served Chicken Dinner.

The ladies of the Lutheran church served a fine chicken dinner yesterday at the church and also served supper. A bazar was held in connection with the dinner and fancy work, quilts, collars and aprons and various other articles for Christmas gifts were sold. The pillars of the dining room were beautifully decorated with jardinières of ferns and the room was fragrant with flowers, each table holding a handsome bouquet. Flowers were also on sale. They were donated by N. H. Long.

Miss Cahill Entertains.

Miss Marian Cahill entertained a few of her young friends at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Cahill, last evening. Following the supper the little folks were guests of their hostess at a theatre party at the Family theatre.

Queen Esther Sale.

The Queen Esther society of the M. E. church held a sale of home-made candy, popcorn, buns and doughnuts at the Sterling drug store yesterday and this afternoon and were well patronized.

MONITOR AND MERRIMAC

Battle to Be Reproduced on Its Fiftieth Anniversary.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The Monitor and the Merrimac will battle again in Hampton roads, if present plans mature. It has been proposed that the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the first battle between ironclad ships, which is to be held March 9, 1912, will hardly be complete without a sham battle of full-sized reproductions of the two historic vessels that revolutionized the science of naval warfare.

Captain Charles A. McAllister, chief engineer of the revenue cutter service, is sponsor for the idea of reproducing the battle.

Their production of classic drama is the result of years of careful preparation. Not only have the players expended an infinite amount of study on their respective roles, but equal attention has been devoted to the question of the production as a whole—the arrangement of the scenes, reading of the doubtful lines, acting traditions of the plays, music to accompany the performances, scenery, the costumes and the stage properties.

The players in the company are: Giles Shine, J. Malcom Dunn, Chas. Fleming, Leopold Lane, Henry Buckler, Geo. Gauf, George Currie, Frederick Conklin, Helen Van Hoose, Beatrice Harron and Mr. and Mrs. Coburn.

CHAPTER XIV.

Another Sunday man and horse and dog roved the Piedmont hills. And again Daylight and Dede rode together. But this time her surprise at meeting him was tinged with suspicion; or rather, her surprise was of another order. The previous Sunday had been quite accidental, but his appearing the second time among her favorite haunts hinted of more than the fortuitous. Daylight was made to feel that she suspected him, and he, remembering that he had seen a big rock quarry near Blair Park, stated offhandedly that he was thinking of buying it. His one-time investment in a brickyard had put the idea into his head—an idea that he decided was a good one, for it enabled him to suggest that she ride along with him to inspect the quarry.

So several hours he spent in her company, in which she was much the same girl as before, natural, unaffected, light-hearted, smiling and laughing, a good fellow, talking horses with unflagging enthusiasm, making friends with the crusty-tempered Wolf, and expressing a desire to ride Bob, whom she declared she was more in love with than ever. Against his better judgment, Daylight gave in, and, on an unfrequented stretch of road, changed saddles and bridles.

"Remember, he's greased lightning," he warned, as he helped her to mount. She nodded, while Bob pricked up his ears to the knowledge that he had a strange rider on his back. The fun came quickly enough—too quickly for Dede, who found herself against Bob's neck as he pivoted around and bolted the other way. Daylight followed on her horse and watched. He saw her check the animal quickly to a standstill, and immediately, with rein across neck and a decisive prod of the left spur, whirl him back the way he had come and almost as swiftly.

"Get ready to give him the quirt on the nose," Daylight called. He hung almost gleefully upon her actions in anticipation of what the fractious Bob was going to get. And Bob got it, on his next whet, or attempt, rather, for he was no more than half-way around when the quirt met him smack on his tender nose. There and then, in his bewilderment, surprise and pain, his fore feet, just skimming the road, dropped down.

"Great!" Daylight applauded. "A couple more will fix him. He's too smart not to know when he's beaten."

Again Bob tried. But this time he was barely quarter around when the doubled quirt on his nose to the road. Then, with neither rein nor spur, but by the mere threat of the quirt, she straightened him out.

"I Could Ride With One of the Clerks Without Remark, but With You—No."

Dede looked triumphantly at Daylight.

"Let me give him a run?" she asked. Daylight nodded, and she shot down the road. He watched her out of sight around the bend, and watched till she came into sight returning. She certainly could sit her horse, was his thought, and she was a sure enough hummer. God, she was the wife for a man! Made most of them look pretty slim. And to think of her hammering all week at a typewriter. That was no place for her. She should be a man's wife, taking it easy, with silks and satins and diamonds (his frontier notion of what befit a wife beloved), and dogs and horses, and such things.

But the quarry was doomed to pass out of his plans for a time, for on the following Sunday he rode alone. No Dede on a chestnut sorrel came across the back-road from Berkeley that day, nor the day a week later. As the third week drew to a close and another desolate Sunday confronted him, Daylight resolved to speak, once, to his office. And as was his nature, he

"I'm real glad, Miss Mason, real glad for those words."

"But they won't serve you," she went on hastily. "They can't serve you. I refuse to let them. This is our last ride, and . . . here is the gate."

Ranging her mare alongside, she bent, slid the catch, and followed the opening gate.

"No, please, no," she said, as Daylight started to follow.

Humbly acquiescent, he pulled Bob back, and the gate swung shut between them. But there was more to say, and she did not ride on.

"Listen, Miss Mason," he said, in a low voice that shook with sincerity. "I want to assure you of one thing. I'm not just trying to fool around with you. I like you, I want you, and I was never more earnest in my life. There's nothing wrong in my intentions or anything like that. What I mean is strictly honorable."

But the expression of her face made him stop. She was angry, and she was laughing at the same time.

Dede Mason had quick, birdlike ways, almost flitting from mood to mood; and she was all contrition on the instant.

"Forgive me for laughing," she said across the gate. "It wasn't really laughter. I was surprised off my guard, and hurt, too. You see, Mr. Harnish, I've not been . . ."

She paused, in sudden fear of completing the thought into which her birdlike precipitancy had betrayed her.

"What you mean is that you've not been used to such sort of proposing."

"I Like You, I Want You and I Never Was More Earnest in My Life."

Daylight said: "a sort of on-the-run, 'Howdy, glad-to-make-your-acquaintance, won't-you-be-mine' proposition." She nodded and broke into laughter, in which he joined, and which served to pass the awkwardness away. He gathered heart at this, and went on in greater confidence, with cooler head and tongue.

"There, you see, you prove my case. You've had experience in such matters. I don't doubt you've had slathers of proposals. Well, I haven't, and I'm like a fish out of water. Besides, this ain't a proposal. It's a peculiar situation, that's all, and I'm in a corner. I've got enough plain horse-sense to know a man ain't supposed to argue marriage with a girl as a reason for getting acquainted with her. And right there was where I was in the hole. Number one, I can't get acquainted with you in the office. Number two, you say you won't see me out of the office to give me a chance. Number three, your reason is that folks will talk because you work for me. Number four, I just got to get you to see that I mean fair and all right. Number five, there you are on one side the gate getting ready to go, and me here on the other side the gate pretty desperate and bound to say something to make you reconsider. Number six, I said it. And now and finally, I just do want you to reconsider."

He was such a boy, this big giant of a millionaire who had half the rich men of San Francisco afraid of him. Such a boy! She had never imagined this side of his nature.

"How do folks get married?" he was saying. "Why, number one, they meet; number two, like each other's looks; number three, get acquainted; and number four, get married or not, according to how they like each other after getting acquainted. But how in thunder we're to have a chance to find out whether we like each other enough is beyond my savvy, unless we make that chance ourselves. I'd come to see you, call on you, only I know you're just rooming or boarding, and that won't do."

"It's getting late now, anyway," Daylight hurried on; "and we've settled nothing at all. Just one more Sunday, anyway—that's not asking much—to settle it in."

She gathered the reins into her hand preliminary to starting.

"Good night," she said, "and—"

"Yes," he whispered, with just the faintest catch of imperativeness.

"Yes," she said, her voice low but distinct.

At the same moment she put the mare into a canter and went down the road without a backward glance, intent on an analysis of her own feelings.

"Oh, but that isn't fair," she cried. "You give me the choice of lying to you and hurting you in order to protect myself by getting rid of you, or of throwing away my protection by telling you the truth, for then you, as you said yourself, would stay and urge."

Daylight smiled grimly with satisfaction.

MURDERCLUESTRONGER

Story of Joseph C. Carr Corroborated in a Measure.

Janitor of Weaver Flats Directed Man of Similar Appearance to Delaware Flats.

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—Developments in the murder of Dr. Helene Knabe, confirming to some extent the story told by Joseph C. Carr of seeing a man near the Delaware flats after hearing screams from the same place came when an actual test was made by citizens to learn if the murderer had had time after cutting the doctor's throat to reach the place where Carr says he met him. The police had made a similar test and had reached the conclusion that it was impossible, but two tests made by friends of the murdered woman show conclusively that the murderer might have made his exit from the flat and reached the scene of meeting with Carr as the latter detailed.

Further confirmation came in the shape of a story by a janitor at the Weaver flats, two squares north of the Delaware, that at 8 o'clock a man asked him for direction to the Delaware flats and when given the information turned in that direction. The janitor's description tallies in many points with the description given by Carr of the man he saw. It is more complete in detail and the police have taken it up as a clue and are running it down.

STANNARD TESTIMONY IN

Arguments in Poisoning Case Being Made by Attorneys.

Ontonagon, Mich., Oct. 28.—Taking of testimony in the murder trial of Mrs. Laura Stannard closed here and the attorneys opened the arguments. Prosecuting Attorney Jones opened for the prosecution and Attorney P. H. O'Brien for the defense, followed by L. F. Legendre of Calumet, Brown of Ontonagon, and O'Connor of L'Anse.

The cross-examination of Mrs. Stannard was concluded. She denied again there was any poison in her home to her knowledge or that she had any reason to take her husband's life. She denied the statement of "Dolly" Grace Hammes that she said to her son Alvin the day of Stannard's death, "Alvin, he provoked me." She said she was not greatly worried about Stannard's condition just before his death as he had often been seriously ill following carousals although he never before had convulsions. She again denied that she put powders of any kind in Stannard's coffee the morning of his death.

BREAKS A COLD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

SAYS QUININE ISN'T EFFECTIVE IN CURE OF COLDS AND GRIPPE.

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or end gripe so promptly as a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

The most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress begin to leave after the first dose.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or gripe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made any where else in the world, which will cure your cold or end gripe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25 cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

HEAVY LOSSES

Killed Estimated at 1,000 and Wounded at 500.

ATTACK ON ITALIAN OUTPOSTS

Fighting Is Furious, but Attacking Force Is Driven Back by Italians Who Take Matters Coolly—Italian Loss About 100.

Tripoli, Oct. 28.—Heavy losses have been suffered by the Arabs who, after three nights of furious fighting, have retired from the field. The casualties in the attacks at Bumeiana Springs and Sharassit alone are estimated at 1,000 Arabs and Turks killed and 500 wounded. The Italian losses are placed at 100.

It is estimated that the attacking force numbered 6,000 men. They extended along the whole Italian front and with reckless dashes often charged right up to the Italian trenches, where they were decimated by a withering fire from the Eighty-Second and Fortieth regiments, which remained silent until the Arabs and Turks were at close range. Afterward the Eighty-Fourth regiment leaped out of the trenches and by a magnificent bayonet charge scattered the enemy. They captured the green banner of the Arabs.

The three days' desperate attacks of the Turks and Arabs were made because the Italian garrison at Tripoli has been depleted by an expedition to the interior. The fate of this force is unknown.

THEORY AND PRACTICE IN EDUCATION.

Friday evening's session of the teachers' convention was a full meal for everyone interested in the welfare of the public schools and the practical results of education. Two valuable addresses were given by men who knew not only the theory but the practice of the subjects which they presented, and if every teacher did not go away from the meeting enthused with a desire to accomplish more and better work for the children under their guidance he or she had better get out of the school room and take up some other work.

The evening program opened with a beautiful selection by the Dixon quartet composed of Mesdames Read and Ballou and Messrs. Fairney and Raymond. They responded to the demand for an encore number.

Dr. Judd on Education.

President Mulwider of Freeport had charge of the session and introduced the speakers. The first address was given by Dr. Chas. H. Judd of the University of Chicago, his subject being "Practical and Theoretical Education."

There is a genuine public demand, said the speaker, that we make our education more practical. Statistics show that in city schools 19 per cent of the pupils in attendance are in the first grade, but 13 per cent in the second grade, 12 in the fourth, 10 in the fifth and but 1.7 who complete the high school work. There are many reasons which contribute to this falling off in attendance, but the greatest reason is that the school work is not made so valuable to the pupil or that its value is not made so clear to the pupil that he is impelled to remain in school until he has completed his elementary education.

The majority of the boys who leave school drop out before completing the sixth grade. There is a demand that we do something more practical. If a boy is retarded in his studies he is probably 14 years old before he has completed his sixth grade. At that age the laws permit him to seek employment under certain restrictions. These restrictions are not removed until he is 16 years of age. The boy wants to learn a trade; but as a general thing he is able to accomplish nothing of any value in the field of labor before he is 16, his success in finding employment being very uncertain. We haven't a school system so attractive that it will keep the boy in school between the ages of 14 and 16 years.

Most of the boys who leave school at 14 remain in the ranks of unskilled labor struggling with a practical problem. They can't write a coherent paragraph, they can't work out an ordinary problem in mathematics. He must have some definite intellectual experience to fit him for this practical world. Shall we turn our schools into work shops? No. You can't assume that a man's mind will train itself in a shop. Some good work is being accomplished in this line, however, by some of the big factories. The Studebaker Wagon Co., for instance, has a librarian who marks certain articles in the trade papers, magazines and books and indicates what shop foremen are to read the article and the foreman must read it and report back to the office. In this way much good is being accomplished where the workmen lack the incentive to study that is inspired by a proper elementary training.

Our American people want us to get up a practical school, but they don't want us to give up our training in reading, numbers and drawing. They want us to meet the demands of practical life. Reading should be given great attention, but it should not be all technique. We have been adding more and more technique as the grades advance. When we have gone through the third grade we have had technique enough for the time being; we should then put into the hands of the pupils something to read that will give information. This is the practical value of learning to read.

Some people think that the technical school is supplanting the work shop. It's merely teaching the theory which the work shop fails to teach. A man may go into the work shop and run a machine until his hand has gained great skill. If improvements are made and the machine is changed he cannot adapt his skill to the new machine. He has skill but lacks flexibility. Another has skill and he also has control; he has something more than skill of hand; there is intelligence to direct the skill. There is theory aiding practice. The schools should teach theory and give opportunity to make application of the theory. While the hand is working at the machine the mind has to do something. See that the mind is trained so that it can develop as the hand works.

VENTILATION OF SCHOOLS VITAL PROBLEM

Dr. W. A. Evans, for four years head of the Department of Health in Chicago, made an address which not only every teacher, but every school director should have heard. His subject was "The Ventilation of Our School Houses." He said that when he got through talking those who taught in badly ventilated rooms last week would not do so next week and those who slept in badly ventilated rooms last night would not do so tonight.

There are several erroneous ways of ventilating. One system guarantees to put a certain quantity of fresh air into the room every hour, but there may be a short circuit of the air so that this fresh air gets out again without changing the bad air which is in the room. Another system provides for diluting the bad air in the room to a certain per cent every hour. The system of dilution is erroneous. Another system guarantees to put fresh air into the room without a draft. If you get into a room where there is no motion of the air you get out of it in a hurry, for the air is dead.

The agent most harmful in the air is the heat of the air. Cold air containing a proper amount of moisture is brought into a building and heated before being admitted to the room. Its capacity for holding moisture is greatly increased by heating. The warm air coming into the room absorbs the moisture; the furniture dries up, the throats of the children become parched and subject to infection. The temperature of the school room should not be allowed to go above 68. At recess open the windows and reduce the temperature to 60. The children come in full of oxygen and its heat making power and when the temperature in the room again reaches 68 their heads are clear and they are in the right condition to work.

Cities spend large sums in the prevention of the pollution of water. We should give equal attention to the prevention of pollution of air. Good air is more important than good water, although both are necessary.

SECTIONAL MEETINGS

The teachers' convention got down to solid business Friday afternoon, when the delegates separated into sectional meetings to discuss the problems peculiar to the several divisions of school work.

visions of school work.

These sectional meetings were held in various rooms in the high school building, the assembly room being given over to representatives of the rural schools as forming the largest division of the delegates. The county superintendents of the nine counties represented in the convention gave most of their attention to this sectional meeting, the meeting being presided over by Supt. Grove of Stephenson county. Addresses were made by Supt. Foster of LaSalle county, Supt. Waits of Bureau county and Dr. McMurry of DeKalb. The general topic was "Education and Training for Citizenship," and the teachers entered freely into the general discussions.

Primary Section.

The primary section was presided over by Miss Agnes M. Nugent of LaSalle, and the general topic in this section was "How and to What Extent Should the Child's Imagination be Developed?" A general presentation of the subject was made by Dr. Ferris of Big Rapids, and short talks were made by various teachers who applied the theme to literature, text reading, poetry, stories, fairy tales, and also to number work, history, geography and nature study.

Grammar Grade.

The intermediate and grammar section commanded fully as much attention as the rural school section and probably found as many or more problems needing a solution or that are far from a solution as did any other two sections of the convention. They are an aggressive company of teachers, alive to the needs of their department and the discussion following each topic was entered into enthusiastically. Miss Bertha M. Williams, principal of the Central school, Sterling, presided. The general topic here was "The Relation of the Child's Physical and Moral Welfare to Good Citizenship." Medical inspection was presented by Dr. Keefe of Sterling, organized play by Principal Charles H. Anderson of the Dixon high school, and a revision of the boy's code of honor by Miss Barnes of the Morrison high school. The discussions were led by Supt. Miller, Polo; Supt. Price, Fulton; Miss Grace Brooks, Rochelle; Supt. Bradley, Belvidere; Supt. Townley, Ladd; Supt. Phares, Rock Falls; Supt. Waldo, Sycamore, and others.

High School Section.

The high school section also commanded considerable attention and was presided over by Principal

Briggs of Rockford. Miss Gertrude I. Hill of Dixon, physical director in the Rockford high school, presented the subject of "Physical Training in Public Schools." She showed unquestionably the importance of this work in the development and health of the pupils and cited examples of marked improvement in the mental development of children where proper attention was given to physical training. "Oral Expression vs. Written Themes" was presented by Miss Goddard of the Freeport high school. It was shown that a proper combination of both oral and written expression was the ideal, and that the confidence developed in the pupils after becoming accustomed to oral expression was a valuable asset. Professor Briggs said that good work was being done in Rockford in studying the style of the writers in the current magazines and that the pupils were very much interested in this work. Dr. Judd of the University of Chicago presented a comparison of high schools through the work of their graduates. With charts he illustrated an analysis of the character of work done in different schools and showed the value of systematic records for determining the condition of the schools.

Town and Village Schools.

The principals and superintendents of town and village schools held a sectional meeting under the direction of Supt. C. E. Taylor of Warren. Two themes were presented, "Manual Training as a Preparation for Life" by Supt. Craven of Tiskilwa, and "The Problem of the Delinquent" by Miss McClure of Mt. Morris. This meeting was in a sense a follow-up of the session of Thursday evening. Discussions were led by Supt. Lynn of Creston and Supt. Clum of Prophetstown.

The Music Teachers.

The round table for music teachers was under the direction of Prof. E. L. Philbrook of Rock Island. The topics were general in their bearing, but the discussions brought out an analysis of individual problems of value to everyone present. Miss Helen Bovee of Polo, Miss Corine Cone of Princeton, Frank E. Chaffee of Freeport and Mrs. Edward M. Pierce of Rockford, all of whom have gained distinction through their success in teaching music in the schools, presented the several topics considered.

Princes at School.

Dr. Marks tells some amusing stories of the early days of the school in Burma of which he was for so many years the head. Shortly after the school was opened King Thebaw said, "Will you teach some of my sons?" "Certainly," said Dr. Marks. "What ages do you like them at?" Dr. Marks replied, "From twelve to fourteen." The king said, "Bring them to me." Nine princes came in. Four came to school the next day, each riding on an elephant and with two gold umbrellas. Each also was escorted by forty soldiers. Afterward the whole nine came, so there were nine princes, nine elephants, eighteen gold umbrellas and 300 soldiers. The elephants stayed outside, but when the princes came into the schoolroom all the other boys threw themselves flat down on their faces on the ground. It was forbidden for any one to stand or sit in the presence of princes. Dr. Marks found this state of things very inconvenient, and the royal etiquette at school was at his request considerably abated. London Globe.

A Wise Provision.

Did you ever notice when a man smites his thumb with a hammer while putting down a carpet under his wife's supervision how quickly he thrusts the bruised and throbbing member into his mouth? People think it is because the application is soothing. But the movement is purely involuntary. Like winking. The man cannot help it. The fact is that nature knows what a man is apt to say under such circumstances and so has provided him with an automatic stopper. Whenever he hits his thumb hard enough to hurt—and it doesn't take a very hard blow almost to kill a man when he is doing something he doesn't like to do—by a sort of interlocking system his thumb flies into his mouth, and for the critical moment speech is cut off.

Weak Heart

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart, or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, their heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alterative should be taken which has no bad after-effect. Such is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which contains no dangerous narcotics nor alcohol.

The ingredients, as attested under oath, are Stone root (Collinsonia Canadensis), Bloodroot (Sanguinaria Canadensis), Golden Seal root (Hydrastis Canadensis), Queen's root (Antennaria Syriaca), Black Cherry bark (Prunus Virginiana), Mandrake root (Podophyllum Tettatum), with triple refined glycerine, prepared in a scientific laboratory in a way that no druggist could imitate.

This tonic contains no alcohol to shrink up the red blood corpuscles; but, on the other hand, it increases their number and they become round and healthy. It helps the human system in the constant manufacture of rich, red blood. It helps the stomach to assimilate or take up the proper elements from the food, thereby helping digestion and curing dyspepsia, heart-burn and many uncomfortable symptoms, stops excessive tissue waste in convalescence from fevers; for the run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people, the "Discovery" is refreshing and vitalizing. Stick to this safe and sane remedy, and refuse all "just as good" medicines offered by the druggist who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do you half as much good.

REPORT EXPECTED MONDAY

Grand Jury Hears Eight Witnesses in Linnell Murder Case.

Boston, Oct. 28.—After hearing the evidence of eight witnesses the Suffolk grand jury, which is investigating the death of Miss Linnell by cyanide poisoning on Oct. 14, adjourned until Monday morning, when it is expected a report will be made.

Should an indictment be returned one copy will be sent to the clerk of the superior criminal court and another will be served upon Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, who is in jail awaiting arraignment upon the charge of murdering the girl.

BLOW TO LAND WINNERS

State Takes Only Good Area Included in Rosebud Allotment.

Gregory, S. D., Oct. 28.—Something of a sensation in connection with the Rosebud land lottery developed when it was disclosed that forty-one sections of the Rosebud tract have been claimed by the state for Indian school lands.

These sections, including the best in the tract, will be selected by the state before the settlers have a chance to file. As only about thirty sections are classified by the appraisers as agricultural land, it appears that none of the real choice claims will pass into the hands of the settlers at this time.

Poese Traps Jail-Breakers.
Bottineau, N. D., Oct. 28.—Five alleged highwaymen, who broke jail for the second time in ten days, are surrounded on the hills near the city. As on the previous occasion, they escaped by sawing jail bars.

OLD TESTAMENT TIMES BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDIES

"SONGS IN THE NIGHT"

Psalm lxxxv—Oct. 29

"The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad."—Psalm cxviii, 3.

We are still in the night of weeping. Sickness, sorrow, sighing and dying continue, and will continue until the glorious morning of Messiah's Kingdom. How glad we are that we have learned that then the glorious change will come to earth. The Prophet David expresses this thought, saying, "Weeping may endure for the night, but joy cometh in the morning" (Psalm xxx, 5). St. Paul breathed the same sentiment when he declared, "The whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now, waiting for the manifestation of the sons of God" (Romans viii, 22). The sons of God in glory will, with their Lord, constitute Emmanuel's Kingdom.

At present these sons of God are comparatively little known or recognized amongst men; frequently they are considered "peculiar people," because of their zeal for righteousness and truth and for God. "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but we know that when He shall appear we shall be like Him, for we shall see Him as He is;" and we shall share His glory, honor and immortality and with Him scatter Divine blessings to all the families of the earth.

"A Song of Deliverance"
Our lesson, the 85th Psalm, may properly have several applications. The first of these would be to Israel's deliverance from the Babylonian captivity, when Cyrus gave permission that all who desired might return to Palestine. About fifty-three thousand, a small company, availed themselves of this privilege and of his assistance. The people rejoiced in this manifestation of the turning away of Divine disfavor and the return to them of Divine favor and blessing. The pardon of their transgressions as a nation was evidenced in this privilege of returning to God's favor.

A secondary application of the Song is just before us. Israel has been in a far greater captivity to Christendom during the past eighteen centuries. She has the promise nevertheless of a mighty deliverance. The Cyrus who gave them liberty to return from literal Babylon was a type of the great Messiah who is about to give full liberty for the return of God's ancient people to Divine favor—to Palestine. St. Paul refers to this coming deliverance of Israel, in Romans xi, 25-29. The Deliverer will do more than merely regather them. He will do that which the 85th Psalm has predicted; as the Apostle says, "This is My Covenant with them when I shall take away their sins." See also Jeremiah xxxi, 31-34; Hebrews viii, 8-11.

Israel's sins have not yet been taken away, even as the world's sins have not yet been taken away. The great Redeemer indeed has died for sin, and He is the sinner's friend, but as yet He has not appeared in the presence of God for us—the Church—not for the world.

"Songs in the Night He Giveth"

While the whole creation groans under its load of sin and sorrow, the saintly few may sing, may rejoice, even in the midst of all the sorrows of life, and even though they share the results of sin as fully or even more fully than do others.

The secret of their joy is twofold. (1) They have experienced reconciliation to God. (2) They have submitted their wills to His will. They obtained this new relationship by the way of faith in the Redeemer—faith in His blood of Atonement. They entered by the "strait gate" and "narrow way" of consecration to God—surrendering their own wills and covenanting to do the Divine will to the best of their ability.

These have joy and peace and songs of thankfulness to God because to them He grants a knowledge of His Divine purposes, and shows them things to come. These see beyond the trials and tribulations of the present time—they see the glories that will follow the present time of suffering. These see that the Church, the saintly few of all denominations and of all nationalities, are prospective heirs of glory, honor and immortality and association with the Redeemer in His glorious Kingdom. This encourages them.

When they perceive that God has arranged that through Christ and the glorified Church the earth shall be blessed, it makes them "joyful in the house of their pilgrimage"—while waiting for their own change from human to divine nature. Seeing that God's provision "is human perfection for the world of mankind," they are contented, and are glad to have God's will done in themselves and in all the earth.

Death—"the last enemy to be destroyed."
While the whole creation groans under its load of sin and sorrow, the saintly few may sing, may rejoice, even in the midst of all the sorrows of life, and even though they share the results of sin as fully or even more fully than do others.

Uneeda Biscuit never disappoint!

You have never heard anyone say—"The Uneeda Biscuit in that last package were not as good as usual."

You have never said it yourself.

It is one thing to make soda crackers that are occasionally good.

It is quite another thing to make them so that they are not only always better than all other soda crackers, but always of unvarying goodness.

The name "Uneeda"—stamped on every one of them—means that if a million packages of Uneeda Biscuit were placed before you, you could choose any one of them, confident that every soda cracker in that package would be as good as the best Uneeda Biscuit ever baked.

PARDON FOR OLEO MEN

Broadwell and Driesbach to Be Given Liberty.

Clemency Is Reward for Having Given Government Information on Oleo Frauds.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—William Broadwell, known as the "king of oleomargarine moonshiners," and self-confessed leader of a gang which defrauded the internal revenue department of half a million of dollars, and Samuel Driesbach, his chief lieutenant, are to be pardoned.

Both Broadwell and Driesbach are under sentences of six years' imprisonment imposed by Judge Landis of the United States district court, who also fined each man $15,000. Their pardons come as a reward for having disclosed before the federal grand jury the innermost secrets in the enormous frauds which had been practiced for years by oleomargarine manufacturers.

Coincident with the announcement of the granting of a pardon to the men it was said that the government had been quietly conducting further investigations of the fraud, based upon information given by Broadwell and Driesbach. The two were brought to Chicago several weeks ago from Leavenworth prison and since then they have been in daily communication with Charles F. DeWoody, division superintendent of the department of justice. He is said to have been instrumental in obtaining their pardon.

OUSTS HEALTH BOARD

Governor Expects to Almost Completely Reorganize that Body.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—Governor Deneen has demanded the resignations of practically the entire state board of health. The first resignation forthcoming was that of Dr. George W. Webster of Chicago, president of the board. When asked his reasons for resigning, Dr. Webster replied: "I found it impossible to devote sufficient time to my practice. I have other reasons, too, but I do not care to discuss them at this time."

Governor Deneen contemplates complete reorganization of the board, and, it is said, intends to make Dr. Ludwig Hektoen of Chicago the president.

Twenty-five years ago the daughter and her husband, Michael O'Keefe, left Elmhurst and went to Colorado. Mr. O'Keefe was interested in mining. Later they went to California. Letters from the daughter ceased and the mother mourned her as dead.
